

Social Media and the Ethical Court Employee

NACM Annual Conference
July, 2011
Presented by Norman Meyer and Karl Thoennes

Overview of Session

- o Builds on article in the Court Manager journal
- o We will cover:
 - o What are social media?
 - o Codes of Conduct
 - o Possible ethical issues
 - o Discuss scenarios
 - o What you can and should do to avoid problems

Why are we here?

Although relatively rare (so far), ethical problems involving the use of social media by court employees do happen!

- > The blogging courtroom deputy
- > The water-skiing deputy clerk

What are Social Media?

- o Internet-based tools that enhance the sharing of information
- o Goal is to maximize user accessibility and self-publication
- o A blending of technology and social interaction for the co-creation of value
- o Examples include Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, Wikipedia, Digg, and YouTube

Ethics and Codes of Conduct

- What do we mean by ethics and ethical behavior in the courts (see handout)?
- There are many codes of conduct in the federal, state, and local courts
- NACM Model Code of Conduct (a copy is in the handouts)

What ethical issues and problems might occur when court employees use social media?

The Continuum of Work Performance and Ethical Behavior

Scenarios for Discussion

- o A giddy law clerk tweets and posts about a special lunch meeting with the judges
- o An unhappy employee posts about work, her manager starts to monitor her social media sites, and the sparks fly

11

What Can & Should You Do?

- o Have an employee Code of Conduct
 - o Include a mechanism for staff to get ethical questions answered
- o Enact a Social Media Use Policy
- o Orientation and Training
- o Hire ethical staff, appropriately monitor behaviors (performance management)
- o Follow through on substantiated violations
- o Enact appropriate I.T. controls
- o Have a media relations plan

12

Social Media Use Policy Tips

- o What is the scope?
- o Address responsibility (what is OK or not)
- o Require that intellectual property laws be followed
- o Disclose any I.T. controls
- o Disclose whether the court will monitor social media use
- o Emphasize court security and confidentiality

13

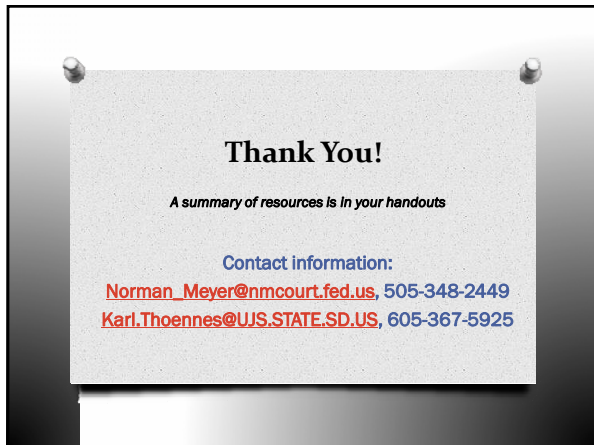

Summary

- o Be knowledgeable regarding social media
- o Have a Code of Conduct
- o Enact and implement a Social Media Policy
- o Enforce your policy
